Re: Hazardous Waste Compliance Inspection of April 20, 1987
EPA Identification Number KSD000203688

Dear Mr. Dame:

On June 24, 1987, a follow-up inspection of your facility was conducted by this department to determine compliance with state and federal regulations concerning hazardous waste.

The inspection revealed that deficiencies 1 through 6 cited in our May 7, 1987 inspection report have been corrected.

The inspection also revealed that your laboratory personnel are in the process of identifying out of date chemicals for disposal. Disposal will be accomplished in the near future. Please notify our department in writing when accomplished and please provide supportive documentation (inventory list, manifests, etc.).

During a telephone conversation with Mr. Larry Prouty (June 30, 1987) it was determined that waste methylene chloride generated by the laboratory is being accumulated in a satellite collection container. When full, the container will be moved to the permitted hazardous waste storage area. The container will be shipped off-site within 90 days of the accumulation start date. The method of accumulation and disposal is satisfactory.

The six (6) drums containing waste methylene chloride (laboratory wastes) are correctly identified with the waste number F001 and stored in the permitted hazardous waste storage area. These drums must be shipped off-site for proper disposal by August 13, 1987. Please notify our department in writing when removal is accomplished. Please provide supportive documentation.

Your cooperation with the hazardous waste management program is appreciated. If you have questions concerning the inspection, please call me at 913/842-4600.

Respectfully,
